OF COURSE YOU COULD USE
A STERIISING SOLUTION such as Milton's, but Dad wasn't too crazy about that at our question of whether it was safe to use for baby's health. Dad said if the solution is strong enough to kill germs, it surely is not that good for babies to consume! Some use it with no problem at all, & I used it myself for Davida, but we haven't used it for Tech thus far.

IT'S SO WONDERFUL THAT

YOU ARE PREGNANT NOW, KEDA, & also wonderful that you have such a helpful matel—In this case, an extra Mommy & Daddy combined—
Isn't that wonderful? You know, I read in a good baby book that people expecting their first beby should consider pregnancy a 12-month term instead of just 9 months, because it takes at least 3 months to adjust your whole schedule & your whole life around a new little baby.—And that's really trug!

NO ONE COULD EVER OVER-

around a new little baby.—And that really true! NO ONE COULD EVER OVER-ESTIMATE WHAT A BLESSING a little baby can be to new parents. But on the other hand, not only has your body been thru' a great big change, but also your emotions, your strength & your own personal schedule that you have had for years to yourself, all change.

I'M SURE YOU''LL SEE JUST.
HOW MUCH TIME a little baby can take once you're holding her in your arms a few months from now. And you will also see how much more you will respect our dear pioneer mothers' & perents on the field today who have mothered their own 3 & children & have number 4 or 5 on the way!—But still at it, still stirtful, still witnessing & "Real Mothers" & soldiers for the Lord.

I USED TO HAVE A MUSIC PROFESSOR who was bald, one of those really shiny bald tops all the way back with just a little rim of hair around. He used to tell his students, "I don't have eyes in the back of my head, it's just that my face goes back that far!"

I DON'T KNOW IF MY BROTH-R WAS REALLY TELLING THE I DON'T KNOW IF MY BROTH-ER WAS REALLY TELLING THE TRUTH or not, but he came back with some awful big whoppers from college. "Well, the next time you meet a skunk will you please ask him for me, what's the big idea!" The conversation continues: "And you tell me you're going now on an expedition into the jungles of Africa?" "Yes."
"And you've advertised for people to join your salan?" "Yes." "And you're going to go out there & meet

A poem about Secundus, by
Seek. A poem about Secundus
The alarm went off
Half an hour ago!
Why doesn't he get up?
He wakes up so slow!
I open the closet
And let out a scream!
It's hast a big mess,
And he said it was clean!
I've waited all day,
For just one little kiss,
But he's been too busy
With a lot of that or this.
He went to the store

He went to the store For diapers & thread He said he remembered. But he came home with bread.

But he came home with least he middle of night, Baby's awakening again. How can he not hear her? He sleeps on with a grin. Normally I would protest And cause a big sith. But the story's not over, There's just a bit more. For him there's no job That's too large or small. No matter what happens

He just gives his all.

The kids, they sure love him.
His roles, they are two,
He plays father or mother,
Or the woman in the shoel
He rarely has a problem.
Seldom has a trialAt least they don't stop him
From going the extra mile.
It sure gets hard
Sometimes to survive,
But he says, "Oh, Honey,
It's just good to be alive."
"Don't worry, Sweetheart.
You take a little rest.
I can take the kids.
You know, we're sure blest."
And then he goes on
About how we needn't worry
Cause the Lord's taking care
And there's no big hurry.
And he's always right
'Cause the Lord sees us thru'
But it's unaulty Charlie
Making sure we all brewThat we need to keep going
And right entire of the source of the source of the world and the we'll mour all. He just gives his all.

Making sure we all knew-That we need to keep going And give Him our all. He helps with every step And he's there if we fall. It really means a lot

To a mother of six have him always ready With his big bag of tricks.

With his oig pag by ITALKA.

The alarm can go off,
The shopping can wait,
'Cause now it's time to love Charlie,
He's sure a good mate!

a pure with margarine as a side dish to eggs, or buttered beets or lettuce served with fried eggs. We even serve potatoes with eggs, mashed with a lot of milk to make them very creamy like porridge.

A GOOD DISH FOR TRAVEL-LING is potato salad made the night before & refrigerated—a meal in one dish with potatoes, eggs, tuna, meyornaise we make ourselves, & green peopers blended in so the kids don't even know they're there! Then we just bring along cups or bowls & a spoon for each person.

THE MOST USEFUL ITEM IN THE MOST USEFUL ITEM IN THE MOST USEFUL ITEM IN THE KITCHEN IS OUR ONE-SPEED BLENDER, so common in Spain & inexpensive to buy. It makes food easy for babies & helps change & vary food a little so the kids will like it more or so that it is disguised a bit. For instance, the kids really eat up spinach blended into a puree with margarine & served before the meal as a thick soup.

JASON-7 & SHERAH-6 JUST FINISHED A WORD STUDY of the words listed in 'Teaching Tips'.

Each day they worked on 8 new words, reading them, writing each one, then studying each for exceptions to our grammar rules, looking for letter combinations, or other words that are spelled similarly, & then have a spelling test on the word for each day. Later we made senten-

I FOUND THE MOST EXCITING WAY TO TEACH the older children is to really capitalise on their questions & interests. When something comes up, we stop & talk above to tions & interests. When something comes up, we stop & talk about it, whether it is grammar or science or math. I plan sheed, but am always neady to change tactics in the middle of the class as I see the need or week area or a new interest. Of course, sometimes I just have to really be persistent to get the children to work on what is necessary, but sometimes it is really the Lord leading us into a more interesting & worthwhile or more needed subject.

leading us into a more interesting is worthwhile or more needed subject.

JASON IS REALLY INTERESTED IN CURRENT EVENTS now & insists that Secundus shere the world happenings from Time megazine. Secundus is always teaching the kids no matter what he is doing with them. I think this is how the children get a lot of their education. Children can learn so much from adults who are willing to talk to them & share their years of experience with them.

STEPHEN-3 & JAMIE-2 ARE LEARNING ABOUT NUMBERS using a train I made for them. This worked well, too, when the other children were younger. At that time I cut a simple train from different colours of paper & pasted felt on the back to use on a felt board. Each car has a number on it in large numbers. Then you make balls or different objects to set on top of each car. The objects are the same color as the corresponding car & the number of items also corresponds. This way the younger children have fin learning both number on hir in the sent meaning both numponds. This way the younger children have fun learning both num-dren have fun learning both numbers & colours.

BIBLE STUDY: A year ago, Jason & Sherah learned the books of the Old & New Testaments by a different little song for each. Then they played a game to see how quickly & accurately they could put the books of the New Testament in order. I wrote on strips of cardstock the name of each Book, then mixed them up & handed them to the children in a stack to see how quickly & accurately they could rearrange them.

IT HAS BEEN SUCH A VICTORY FOR THE NEIGHBOUR MAN whom the children prayed for. He's an elderly American (with a Spanish wife) who has a very serious lung disease from the Vietnam war from the poisonous gas the Americans sprayed to kill all the vegetation.
