

PREMATURE EJACULATION

Most selfish women who are there just for their own sake, would have been mad that he had gone before making her happy. That's why, for men with that problem, it can grow into a complex! It can become a psychological handicap for any man, because if the woman reacts badly, he won't dare try it again and get in a similar situation.

It's apt to really make him miserable, he may be so embarrassed and frustrated because he would like to make you happy too. That's why men always ask the women afterwards if they are satisfied.

Some guys are so sensitive they can walk down the street and look at some woman's tits and have an orgasm! That has almost happened to me, when I was a kid, just seeing a picture of a naked woman. It's very psychological, but it's either the result of over-much strength and virility, or due to a lack of sex for long periods of time, or lack of experience with sex.

Now, what are you going to do? You are going to have to be patient and try to restore his self-confidence. That's the thing he needs. You have to show him that he can make a woman happy no matter what, because that will make him very happy. But you have to show him how! So, you have to learn a few things to help you in this very important ministry of sexual & spiritual therapy.

The first thing you should do is to go to the bathroom and grease yourself up real good. This should be a rule for our FFers, to always use some vaseline. It's better to have it and not need it, than to need it and not have it, so always use it. Get the vaseline mainly around the lips, which is the most difficult point to get in.

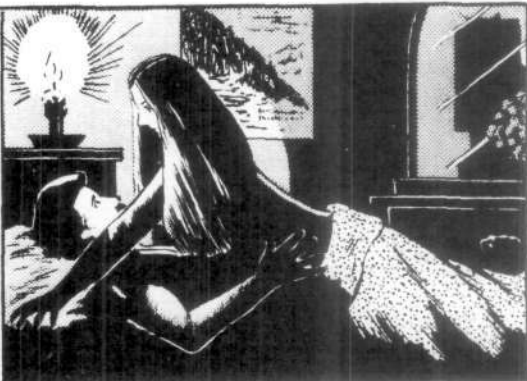

In his case it would almost be better if he'd stay late and drink more than normal because that would slow him down. Of course, if he drank too much it could send him to the other extreme where he can't get it up. So keep the balance!

In the meantime, while you are in the bathroom, he could undress which may be an embarrassing operation. Once you're well lubricated and naked, get in bed. But don't touch him, don't kiss, don't do anything in advance. Before he gets too excited, you should start working to put him in. Try to avoid grabbing the head of the penis because that's apt to make him go quick, and at least maybe he can get in before he goes and that will be a great accomplishment for him. He will probably go the minute he gets in.

But when he is in, try to keep going as fast as you can and try to go, not just for your sake, but for his sake. If he's already gone, he will stay hard for 3 to 5 minutes, as he's the kind of man who's virile and strong. Try to become physically satisfied if you can. If he's all flustered, just say, "Don't worry about it, I'm going", and just keep socking it away to him and try to actually go! You could even get on him and move around until you go.

People like that are able to get hard and ready again very soon, so give him another chance! One way or another, try to become physically satisfied if you can. If you can't, fake it for their sake. I mean, that's one time when it is worth faking it! When they ask you if you are satisfied, you can say "yes" because you have accomplished your purpose!

What you need to do most of all is convince him that he is making you happy, once you've made him happy. So, even if everything else fails, show him how he can do you with his finger and that may save his entire love life if he finds out he can make women happy with his finger. In fact, with most girls I've found it's easier to satisfy them with your hand than any other way.

Yes, I am happy!
I'm doubly happy because you are happy!

Thank God!

I can see that my whole life is going to change, even my sex life!

If they think that you were faking it, well, they still know that you are doing it for their sake to make them happy. So don't worry, just let them know that you love them.

The truth is, usually the Lord gives you so much grace at that time you are just so happy to give to them, you think you are satisfied even when you are not sometimes.

Anyway, our motive is not only to reach an orgasm, but let them know that the Lord and us want them to be happy. You girls are really going to have to be sex doctors in a way, sex therapists, because some of these guys don't know anything. So you must learn as much as you need to be able to take care of every special case, and deal with them accordingly. In a way, they are like patients the Lord has put in your hands.

This is the end of my sex life!

I wonder how my sex life would have ended if I hadn't known you. You know exactly what to do for me!

Will you come back?

No! You are an impossible sex partner!

Impotency is a whole different story, but it is not incurable either. It is mostly psychological. A lot of these guys think they are impotent because the last time they were with a woman ten years ago, they couldn't make it, so they quit trying. Maybe they had such a humiliating experience that they didn't dare to try it again. The average male ego can't stand it when people make fun of them, or ridicule. That is almost the worst thing that can happen to a man, for a woman to make fun of him. — So don't!

But many a man can go just by sucking, even if you can't get it up. Well, you girls ought to know. Just use patience and love with them. To want to suck him will convince him that you really want him to be happy. And that's unselfish love! They will see that you aren't doing it for your own sake, but that you, generously, are willing to do anything for them.

I feel so good! I love you because I know that you're sincerely trying to make me happy!

Mmmm...

Well, I don't know whether you realise how serious what you are doing is, you're handling men's hearts, their lives, their whole psychological make-up! — Their sexual past, present & future! You can either make them or break them! You can either encourage them and save their lives and their love life and give them hope and faith, or you can handle them in such a clumsy way that they figure they are a failure and they get discouraged and they never even feel like trying again! So pray and follow the guidance of the Spirit to deal with every case. Let them know how much the Lord loves them, to set their lives right and find happiness in His arms. Give them Jesus and a proof of real love and concern. Maybe this is their last chance — you're their last resort!